AROUND THE UNION

Maranatha To Lead Project at Andrews University

From May 12–June 2, 2024, Maranatha Volunteers International and Andrews University will carry out significant upgrades to Lamson Hall.

Maranatha, a non-profit construction organization that works in conjunction with the Seventh-day Adventist Church, will provide volunteer labor and a website for volunteer sign-up, with the goal of 100 volunteers participating for the full three weeks. Andrews will provide lodging and food for volunteers in addition to the necessary materials. Andrews is also raising funds to cover the estimated $2 million in total project costs. So far—with contributions from the President’s Council, the Board of Trustees, and other gifts—over $1.1 million has been raised.

Indiana Welcomes Members, Community to Watch Solar Eclipse

The much-anticipated solar eclipse of April 8 did not disappoint, as millions of persons across North America viewed the phenomenal display of God's handiwork. Much of Indiana was in the path of totality, providing many of our churches and schools with the opportunity to invite neighbors and friends to view what was a once-in-a-millennial event for this area. In preparation for this special day, several Indiana churches distributed special editions of The Great Controversy, along with eclipse glasses. Please join us in praying for the many seeds sown during this unique witnessing opportunity.

Video of the Week

Over a two-day event held at the Historic Adventist Village in Battle Creek, Michigan, the Lake Union Public Affairs and Religious Liberty department hosted an event focused on our early Adventist pioneers and their civic engagement.

Those who attended were treated to dynamic speakers, presentations, a tour, and discussions focused on social engagement and community service. From honoring our pioneer legacy to embracing our role as Jesus's hands and feet, presentations connected us to our Seventh-day Adventist values. Let's carry this spirit forward, making positive changes in our society with the power of the Holy Spirit.
